Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to you regarding the exciting 'QA Tester' position that's advertised on the Electric Square website.

From a young age I have had a passion for games and have enjoyed creating video game content. From level design, 3d assets and animation, all the way to making my own games from scratch. My enthusiasm for games design inspired me to go back into education. Here I was awarded a Higher National Diploma [HND] in Interactive Media with Game Design and I worked tirelessly and to achieve a Triple Distinction.

In recent years, I attended a work experience placement with BAFTA award winning Plug-In Media in Brighton. Here I experienced what it was like to work in a professional, creative, agile environment. I have also kept myself busy elsewhere participating in various testing programmes for the likes of Ubisoft and Team17 Digital among many popular independent studios from which I have become friendly with. I was also directly involved with FuturLab in Brighton for the playtesting of 'Velocity 2x' for PS4.

After spending the past few years being a full time parent I am once again actively trying to transition into the games industry, specifically with the intention of moving into QA. As I continue to work towards this goal, I am doing anything I can to help support my application.

I am highly motivated, exercise initiative and I am dedicated to achieving my goals. I can be relied upon to work alone or as part of a cohesive team. Additionally, I have considerable experience in managerial roles at flagship retail games stores, from which I have learned a great deal in leadership, organisation, performing under pressure and motivating staff. In these positions I have led both small and large teams to success in meeting company deadlines and surpassing targets.

I relish the opportunity to work with Electric Square and I am confident that I can become a valued asset to your team.

Thank you for your time, I hope to hear from you soon!

Kind Regards,

Bradley Michael Levick
